

Summit County
CHILDREN SERVICES
Building Families . . . Building Futures

The Oxley Family

Michael and Emilee Oxley began fostering in 2016 after knowing that the family unit and home that they had established wasn't for the benefit of their biological daughters, alone. As a foster dad, Michael feels his role in leading his family includes helping his kids know why they do what they do in providing a safe and loving home for children during their time of need. "We also support the goal of reunification by offering support to the birth families and by being an active member of the overall child welfare team," he shared. The Oxleys are excited to continue fostering and involving their now-adopted son as a part of the foster family team.

Thank you for all that you do for the children and families in Summit County!